Total Support Worker (Richmond/Vancouver) - Casual

Job Description

Greater Vancouver Community Services Society is currently looking for Casual Total Support Workers with the right combination of passion, skills, and dedication to support our group home residents with mental health and addictions.

We are proud to announce we have had zero COVID outbreaks. During this time of the COVID-19 pandemic, we remain committed to the health and safety of our employees. We are diligently following all directions from the Ministry of Health and Vancouver Coastal Health Authority, and we are providing all necessary PPE supplies. We care about our front-line workers and we are here to support you.

Schedule: For casual positions, we require a general availability and you will be called for shifts.

Location: Richmond/Vancouver, BC (exact location of home to be provided to successful applicants only)

Wage: Our positions have a starting rate of $26.30

Services:

- Provide care to residents according to the Recovery Care Philosophy
- Assistance with activities of daily living and development of life skills such as personal hygiene, housekeeping, meal planning, keeping appointments, and interpersonal skills, in accordance with care plans
- Assist residents in recreational and leisure activities and build rapport
- Provide information to residents in relations to harm reduction supports available
- De-escalate situations and utilize conflict resolution

Requirements:

- Completion of a recognized Addictions Worker or Mental Health Worker Certificate or an equivalent combination of education, training and experience.
- Current "Emergency Community Care" First aid and Cardio-pulmonary (CPR) certification
